The Missonri Compromise had its origin in the hearts of all patriotic men who desired to preserve and perpetuate the blessings of our glorious Union—on origin aking to that of the constitution of the United States, conceived in the same spirit of fraternal affection, and calculated to remove forover the only danger which threatens at some distant day, to sever the social bond of Union.—All the evidences of public opinion at that day seem to ladicate that this compromise had become canonical in the hearts of the American people as a sacred thing, which no ruthless hand would see be reckless enough to elistant. From Douglas' Speech in Springfield, Ill., 1860.

From Douglas' Speech at Providence, Aug. 3, 1860. My fricul over there—friend or enemy, as the case may be—wants to know something about the Missouri Compromise. (Cheera, I have not the slightest objection to telling him all he desires to know upon that question. I BROUGHT IN THE BILL TO REPEAL THE MISSOURI RESTRICTION.

How Non-Intervention Works.

From Douglas' Speech in the Senate, May 10, 13. this dectrine of non-intervention, this dectrine that you delight to call squatter sovereignty, the people of New Mexico have introduced and protected sharery in the whole of that territory. Under this dectrine they have converted a tract of free territory into shape territory, many then five times the rise of the state of New York.—tinder this dectrine sharery has been extended from the Rio Grands to the July of Chifornia, and from the line of the republic of Mexico, not only up to 36 deg 30 min., but up to 88 deg.—divina was a dearer and a time of the replants of meaning they only up a bound of the sound of the second of the

What should be Done.

The nature of the work remaining to be done, is mainly thorough and perfect organisation of every town, the preparation of accurate and full poll lists, and the adoption of positive and certain measures to get every republican voter to the polls. There are aids, but they are merely aids to this work, and the work itself involves the use of these aids. We might enlarge upon this topic, but we could say nothing which will not be suggested by what we have already said. Every man has a duty to perform, and every man ought to faithfully discharge that duty. The only question is, whether you will do it; you, reader, not your neighbor, but YOURSELF. If Rock county is to maintain her proud position in the republican ranks, her republicans must do the work we have indicated. Other counties in the state will dispute with her the title to leadership, and successfully too. if the republicans of the county trust to a merely spontaneous vote, and neglect the means for a THOROTCH ORGANIZATION and & FULL YOTH.

The New York Herald gives up the election of Douglas. It says "there is no hope remaining for the defeat of Lincoln but New York, and New York is a folorn hope." "Let the people," it says, " in all sections now prepare for the rule of a republican President after the 4th of March next, for such is the decree of the Pennsylvania

"In reply to these and other representa-tions of the wrongs and evils of this insti-tution, we are told that slaves are well fee, well clothed, at least better than the peasantry and operatives in many other countries; and this is gravely adduced as a vindication of slavery. A man capable of offering it ought, it any one ought, to be reduced to bondage. A man who thinks food and raiment a compensation for liberty, who would counsel men to sell themselves, to become property, to give up all rights and power over themselves, for a daily mess of pottage, however savory, is a slave at heart. He has lost the spirit of a man; and would be less wronged than oth-

How gay and rich his caparison | But why is he thus curried, and pampered, and be-decked? To be bitted and curbed; and then to be mounted by his master, who arms himself with whip and spur to put the animal to his speed; and if any accident mar his strength or swiftness, he is sold from his luxuriant stall to be flayed, overworked, and hastened out of life by the merciless drayman. Suppose the nobleman should say to the half-starved, ragged operative of Manchester, 'I will give up my horse, and feed and clothe you with like sumptuousness, on condition that I may mount you daily with lash and spurs, and sell you when I can make a profitable bargain.' Would you have the operative, for the sake of good fare and clothes, take the

I might reply, if I thought fit, to this account of the slave's blessings, that there is nothing very enviable in his food and wardrobe, that his comforts make no approach to those of the nobleman's horse, and that a laborer of New-England would prefer the fare of many an almshouse at home. But I cannot stoop to such reasoning. Be the comforts of the slave what they may, they are no compensation for the degradation, insolence, indignities, ig

Neighborhood Meetings.

We are happy to learn that republican meetings will be very generally held thro'the election. These meetings can be supplied with speakers from Janesville if they are desired, and timely notice given. There is, however, one point in connection with these speakers we hope our friends will allow us to speak about freely; and that is the matter of the payment of their expenses in attending the meetings they address. No one, of them expects or would receive payment for his time or labor, but it is certainly only reasonable that the actual expense incurred by them in going and re- mi remark he kolapsed simultaniusly onto turning from the meeting should be paid by the bill yard tabel & aul sines of lif was exthose whom they visit and address. The bloody work was done with an axe.

Mr. Orendorff, on returning home in the evening, found the dead and mutilated bodies of his family members, and the drawers and other places where valuables were kept broken open and ransacked .--The deed was at once charged to a young man, who came to the neighborhood recent ly, but whose name is not known. THE above are First Class, justly popular, and prompt paying companies. They invite investigation into their condition undesolicit business entirely upon their real merits. In point of solvency and reliability and honorabic deailing, they have hut few equats, and in superiors. They are founded upon the very best securities in the world—hirs, class bonds and, mortgages upon properly in New York and Brooklyn—securities that have not, for the past ton years, depreciated below pur, and are avery way more reliable and permanent than railroad, bank, and other stocks, which are subject to the fluctuations of the market, and limble, in times of paraic, as the experience of the past teaches, to become almost, if not entircity, valueless. And while there are Companies entering the field of compatition, well calculated to mislead by publishing partial and one-sided statements of their condition, and without a cash surplus on hand sufficient to reinsura their outstanding risks, the above enmed companies always have and keep over and above their capital twice the amount, and in most instances faur times, needed for the reinsurance of all their risks. With such a foundation, and with such a condition, they claim the right to look with confidence to the public for liberal patroange.

Policies issued without delay, and forms risks for a series of years taken at less rates than can be done by Mutual Companies, and a certainty given instead of an uncertainty. All losses promptly adjusted and paid.

Douglas vs. Douglas and the Missouri Compromise.

From Douglas' Speech in Springfield, Ill., 1850. From Dauglas' Speech in Springfield, III, 1850.

The Missouri Compromise had its origin in the hearts of all patriotic men who desired to preserve and perpetuate the blessings of our glorious Union—on origin akin to thist of the constitution of the United States, conceived in the same spirit of fraternal affection, and calculated to remove forever the only dauger which threatens at some distant day, to sever the social bond of Union—All the evidences of public opinion at that day seem to indicate that this compromise had become canonized in indicate that this compromise had become canonized in indicate that this compromise had become cannized in the hearts of the American people as a sacred thing, which no rubless hand would ever be reckless enough to disturb.

From Douglas' Speech at Providence, Aug. 3, 1860. My friend over there—friend or enemy, as the case may be—wants to know something about the Missouri Compromise. [Cheers.] I have not the slightest objection to telling him all he desires to know upon that question. I BROUGHT IN THE BILL TO REPEAL THE MISSOURI RESTRICTION.

How Non-Intervention Works.

"I believe that it is the right of the south to demand and the duty of congress to extend, protection of persons and property of every kind (including slaves) in the ter-ritories during their territorial state."—Herschel V. Johnson.

From Donglas' Speech in the Senate, May 16,150. From Donglas' Speech in the Senate, May 16, 18.

"It is part of the history of the country that under this doctrine of non-intervention, this doctrine that you delicht to call squatter sovereignty, the people of New Mexico have introduced and protected slavery in the whole of that territory. Under this doctrine they have concerted a tract of free territory into slave territory, more than five times the rise of the slate of New York—Under this doctrine starcy has been extended from the Rio Grande to the Cuif of Cuifornia, and from the line of the republic of Mexico, not only up to 36 deg. Johnson but up to 88 deg.—giring you a degree and a half more dare territory than you ever claimed."

What Should be Done.

: The election takes place within less than three weeks, and the work of the campaign will be speedily finished. What remains to be done must therefore be attended to at once. There is no time for delay.

The nature of the work remaining to be done, is mainly thorough and perfect organization of every town, the preparation of accurate and full poll lists, and the adoption of positive and certain measures to get every republican voter to the polls. There are aids, but they are merely aids to this work, and the work itself involves the use of these aids. We might enlarge upon this topic, but we could say nothing which will not be suggested by what we have already said. Every man has a duty to perform, and every man ought to faithfully discharge that duty. The only question is, whether you will do it; you, reader, not your neighbor, but YOURSELF. If Rock county is to maintain her proud position in the republican ranks, her republicans must do the work we have indicated. Other counties in the state will dispute with her the title to leadership, and successfully too, if the republicans of the county trust to a merely spontaneous vote, and neglect the means for a THOROUGH ORGANIZATION and

The New York Herald gives up the election of Douglas. It says "there is no hope remaining for the defeat of Lincoln but New York, and New York is a folorn hope." "Let the people," it says, " in all sections now prepare for the rule of a republican President after the 4th of March next, for such is the decree of the Pennsylvania

For the Daily Gazetic. A Sophism Answered.

The pro-slavery advocate has often, in my hearing, put forth the narrow and contemptible doctrine that slavery is not a very had thing aside from its abuses. It might be tolerated, without a word of complaint. provided the bondman be well cared for in physical point of view. Only give the slave enough to eat and drink and wear, working him according to his health and strength, and what more should be demand, what more should he crave? Feed the body and starve the spirit, is practically the motto of every apologist for the grievous sin of slavery. I pity the man who can sanction such a fallacious idea, and of human life. While the body should be cared for, the soul should not be forgotten. A human being is something more than flesh and blood and bone and sinew and muscle. It will not do to ignore the fact that there are intellectual, moral, spiritual powers. All these need and demand development and appropriate culture. Slavery refuses to answer this legitimate demand. To enslave a human being, therefore, is to inflict on him the greatest possible wrong.

Wm. E. Channing, D. D., one of the noblest and truest men of his day, in one of his excellent papers on slavery, having hoo stood & gauped at him and shown that this damning evil outrages human nature by converting the image of God into a chattel, destroying all the relations of domestic life, binding the slave down to brotherhood with brutes, proceeds as follows:

"In reply to these and other representations of the wrongs and evils of this insti-tution, we are told that slaves are well fest, well clothed, at least better than the peasantry and operatives in many other countries; and this is gravely adduced as a vindication of slavery. A man capable of offering it ought, it any one ought, to be reduced to bondage. A man who thinks food and raiment a compensation for liberty, who would counsel men to sell themselves, to become property, to give up all rights and power over themselves, for a daily mess of pottage, however savory, is a slave at heart. He has lost the spirit of a man; and would be less wronged than oth-He has lost the spirit of a er men, if a slave's collar were welded round his neck.

The domestic slave is well fed, we are told, and so are the domestic animals. A gentleman's horse in England is better lodged and more pampered than the operatives in Manchester. The grain which the horse consumes might support a starving family. How sleek and shining his coat! How gay and rich his caparison! But why is he thus curried, and pampered, and bedecked? To be bitted and curbed; and then to be mounted by his master, who arms himself with whip and spur to put the animal to his speed; and if any accident mar his strength or swiftness, he is sold from his luxuriant stall to be flayed, overworked, and hastened out of life by the merciless drayman. Suppose the nobleman should say to the half-starved, ragged oper-ative of Manchester, 'I will give up my horse, and feed and clothe you with like sumptuousness, on condition that I may mount you daily with lash and spurs, and sell you when I can make a profitable bargain.' Would you have the operative, for the sake of good fare and clothes, take the lot of the brute? or, in other words, become a slave? What reply would the heart of an Old-England or New-England laborer make to such a proposal? And yet, if there be any soundness in the argument drawn from the slave's comforts, he ought to accept it thankfully and greedily.

Such arguments for slavery are insults. The man capable of using them ought to be rebuked as mean in spirit, hard of heart, and wanting all true sympathy with his race. I might reply, if I thought fit, to this account of the slave's blessings, that there is nothing very enviable in his food and wardrobe, that his comforts make no approach to those of the nobleman's horse, nd that a laborer of New-England would prefer the fare of many an almshouse at home. But I cannot stoop to such reason-ing. Be the comforts of the slave what they may, they are no compensation, insolence, indignities, ignorance, servility, scars, and violations domestic rights to which he is exposed."

Dr. Channing knew the institution of slavery well. He had studied slave life on the plantation, and was prepared to utter his solemn protest against this vile scheme of robbery and wrong and social outrage. Let the apologist for human bondage read. and ponder the extract given above.

Neighborhood Meetings.

We are happy to learn that republican meetings will be very generally held thro'out the county during the time preceding the election. These meetings can be supplied with speakers from Janesville if they are desired, and timely notice given. There is, however, one point in connection with these speakers we hope our friends will allow us to speak about freely; and that is the matter of the payment of their expenses in attending the meetings they address. No one of them expects or would receive payment for his time or labor, but it is certainly only reasonable that the actual expense incurred by them in going and returning from the meeting should be paid by hose whom they visit and address. If this is not done, the individual expense is a serious matter, where a speaker, as many of our citizens do, visit a large number of places during a campaign. We speak of this, because they will not, and because the propriety of the suggestion we make must be apparent to any one who will think of it. Therefore, don't wait for your speakers to ask, but tender them a sufficient sum to pay the money they must necessarily expend. By a contribution at the meeting, the amount can easily be raised.

AWFUL TRAGEDY IN TAZWELL COUNTY, ILL.—The wife and two young children, daughters, of Mr. George W. Orendorff, a farmer residing on the Delayan prairie, in Tazwell county, in that state, were horribly murdered by a robber in their house during the absence of Mr. Orendorff and his hire man in the timber, on Friday last. The bloody work was done with an axe.

Mr. Orendorff, on returning home in the evening, found the dead and mutilated bodies of his family members, and the drawers and other places where valuables were kept broken open and ransacked.— The deed was at once charged to a young man, who came to the neighborhood recently, but whose name is not known. He has run away, but at last accounts was closely followed by the citizens of that neighborhood. It is hoped the monster will not escape.

The receipts of wheat at Bulfalo last week, were 1,562,394 bushels.

The Missonri Compromise had its origin in the hearts of all patriotic men who desired to preserve and perpetuate the blessings of our glorious Union—on origin aking to that of the constitution of the United States, conceived in the same spirit of fraternal affection, and calculated to remove forover the only danger which threatens at some distant day, to sever the social bond of Union.—All the evidences of public opinion at that day seem to ladicate that this compromise had become canonical in the hearts of the American people as a sacred thing, which no ruthless hand would see be reckless enough to elistant. From Douglas' Speech in Springfield, Ill., 1860.

My fricul over there—friend or enemy, as the case may be—wants to know something about the Missouri Compromise. (Cheera, I have not the slightest objection to telling him all he desires to know upon that question. I BROUGHT IN THE BILL TO REPEAL THE MISSOURI RESTRICTION.

once. There is no time for delay.

The nature of the work remaining to be done, is mainly thorough and perfect organisation of every town, the preparation of accurate and full poll lists, and the adoption of positive and certain measures to get every republican voter to the polls. There are aids, but they are merely aids to this work, and the work itself involves the use of these aids. We might enlarge upon this topic, but we could say nothing which will not be suggested by what we have already said. Every man has a duty to perform, and every man ought to faithfully discharge that duty. The only question is, whether you will do it; you, reader, not your neighbor, but YOURSELF. If Rock county is to maintain her proud position in the republican ranks, her republicans must do the work we have indicated. Other counties in the state will dispute with her the title to leadership, and successfully too. if the republicans of the county trust to a merely spontaneous vote, and neglect the means for a THOROTCH ORGANIZATION and

my hearing, put forth the narrow and contemptible doctrine that slavery is not a very bad thing aside from its abuses. It might be tolerated, without a word of complaint, provided the bondman be well cared for in physical point of view. Only give the slave enough to eat and drink and wear, working him according to his health and strength, and what more should be demand, what more should he crave? Feed the yer kolums the inikwity ov the hul proscedbody and starve the spirit, is practically the motto of every apologist for the grievous sin of slavery. I pity the man who can sanction such a fallacious idea, and adopt so low and contemptible an estimate of human life. While the body should be cared for, the soul should not be forgotten. A human being is something more than flesh and blood and bone and sinew and muscle. It will not do to ignore the fact well clothed, at least better than the peasantry and operatives in many other countries; and this is gravely adduced as a vindication of slavery. A man capable of offering it ought, it any one ought, to be reduced to bondage. A man who thinks food and raiment a compensation for liberty, who would counsel men to sell themselves, to become property, to give up all rights and power over themselves, for a daily mess of pottage, however savory, is a slave at heart. teld, and so are the domestic animals. A gentleman's horse in England is better odged and more pampered than the operatives in Manchester. The grain which the horse consumes might support a starving family. How sleek and shining his coat! How gay and rich his caparison | But why is he thus curried, and pampered, and be-decked? To be bitted and curbed; and then to be mounted by his master, who arms himself with whip and spur to put the animal to his speed; and if any accident mar his strength or swiftness, he is sold from his luxuriant stall to be flayed, overworked, and hastened out of life by the merciless drayman. Suppose the nobleman should say to the half-starved, ragged operative of Manchester, 'I will give up my horse, and feed and clothe you with like sumptuousness, on condition that I may mount you daily with lash and spurs, and sell you when I can make a profitable bargain.' The man capable of using them ought to be rebuked as mean in spirit, hard of heart, and wanting all true sympathy with his race. I might reply, if I thought fit, to this account of the slave's blessings, that there is nothing very enviable in his food and wardrobe, that his comforts make no approach to those of the nobleman's horse, and that a laborer of New-England would prefer the fare of many an almshouse at home. But I cannot stoop to such reasoning. Be the comforts of the slave what they may, they are no compensation for the degradation, insolence, indignities, ig norance, servility, scars, and violations o

domestic rights to which he is exposed."

Ocr. 16, 1860.

Dr. Channing knew the institution of slavery well. He had studied slave life on the plantation, and was prepared to utter his solemn protest against this vile scheme of robbery and wrong and social outrage. Let the apologist for human bondage read and ponder the extract given above.

Wednedsday Evening, Oct., 17th at half past seven o'clock.

We hope the republicans of the city will not forget the speech of Judge Howe at the court room this evening, nor fail to give more, also to verify the answer in case of able, candid and instructive speaker, and him a crowded house. Judge Howe is an we feel fully warranted in assuring all who pendent. may attend that they will be pleased with both the speech and the speaker. He is zealously engaged in the contest now wa ging, and will infuse his own spirit into his hearers.

Mr. Douglas attempted at Milwaukee to explain away the celebrated quotation from one of his speeches, that he "did not care whether slavery was voted up or down." His explanation is that he did not care whether the slavery clause in the Lecompton constitution was voted down or up -he was against Lecompton in any event. We would like to enquire of Mr. Douglas why he did not make this defence when Mr. Lincoln referred to it in debate with him in 1858? Why complain of it at this late ! day? Perhaps he had not thought of the dodge till now. Inasmuch as the "don't The Merchants of Hartford, or the Northern care" policy is the very essence of the doc of London, England. Phonix Insurance Co. of Hartford. We take pleasure in directing the atten tion of property holders to the statement of the Phœnix Insurance Company, published in another column. This we consider one of the most reliable Insurance Companies in the country; and we think no one need have the least hesitancy in effecting an in-surance in it. Their exhibit shows conclusive of its reliability. No one owning property should go without an insurance, and to such we recommend them to call on the agent and at once effect an insurance.-Home Journal.

Continental Insurance Company. This prosperous corporation, in order to meet its present and growing wants, has just completed the purchase of the desirable property known as No. 102 Broadway and No. 1 Pine street. Possession will be given on or belore the 1st of May next, when we learn a new and beautiful structure will at once be erected, suited to the requirements of the Company. No institution of a similar character in the nation, all things considered, can boast of such an unparallelled prosperity as can this. Com-mencing with a cash capital of half a million of dollars, it has steadily and rapidly grown, until its available assests now amount to about one million. The officers and directors are known all over the coun try as among the leading influential business men and capitalists of this city. No better, safer, or stronger Insurance Compa ny exists than the Continental. May it live and grow a thousand years, and—continue to pay fat dividends.—New York Inde-

Douglas vs. Douglas and the Missouri Compromise.

From Dauglas' Speech in Springfield, Ill., 1859. From Dauglas' Speech in Springfield, III., 1850.

The Missouri Compromise had its origin in the hearts of all patriotic men who desired to preserve and perpetual all patriotic men who desired to preserve and perpetual the United Davids United On the United States, conceived in the same spirit of fraternal affection, and calculated to remove forever the only danger which threatens at some distant day, to sever the social bond of Union.—

All the evidences of public opinion at that day seem to indicate that this compromise had become cannized in the hearts of the American people as a scared thing, which no ruthless hand would ever be reckless enough to distant.

From Bouglas' Speech at Providence, Aug. 3, 1860. My friend over there-friend or enemy, as the case may be—wants to know something about the Missouri Compromise. (Cheers, I have not the slightest objection to telling him all he desires to know moon that question. I BROUGHT IN THE BILL TO REPEAL THE MISSOURI RESTRICTION.

How Non-Intervention Works.

"I believe that it is the right of the south to demand and the duty of congress to extend, protection of persons and properly of every kind (including slaves) in the territories during their territorial state."—Herschel V. Johnson. From Douglas' Speech in the Senate, May 16,1860.

Tron Douglas speece in the country that under this dectrine of non-intervention, this doctrine that you delie in to call squatter sovereignty, the people of New Mexico have introduced and protected slavery in the whole of that territory. Under this doctrine they have delight to call squatter sovereignty, the people of Mexico have introduced and protected slavery in the whole of that territory. Under this doctrine they have concreted a tract of free territory into slave territory, more than free times the size of the state of New York.— Under this doctrine slavery has been extended from the Rio Grande to the Gulf of California, and from the line of the republic of Mexico, not only up to 36 deg. 30 min. but up to 88 deg.—giving you a degree and a half more slave territory than you ever claimed."

What Should be Done.

The election takes place within less than three weeks, and the work of the campaign will be speedily finished. What remains to be done must therefore be attended to at once. There is no time for delay.

The nature of the work remaining to be done, is mainly thorough and perfect organization of every town, the preparation of accurate and full poll lists, and the adoption of positive and certain measures to get every republican voter to the polls. There are aids, but they are merely aids to this work, and the work itself involves the use of these aids. We might enlarge upon this topic, but we could say nothing which will not be suggested by what we have already said. Every man has a duty to perform, and every man ought to faithfully discharge that duty. The only question is, whether you will do it; you, reader, not your neighbor, but YOURSELF. If Rock county is to maintain her proud position in the republican ranks, her republicans must do the work we have indicated. Other counties in the state will dispute with her the title to leadership, and successfully too, if the republicans of the county trust to a merely spontaneous vote, and neglect the merely spontaneous vote, and neglect the nears for a thorough organization and daughters, of Mr. George W. Orendorff, a farmer residing on the Delavan prairie, in

The New York Herald gives up the election of Douglas. It says "there is no hope remaining for the defeat of Lincoln but New York, and New York is a folorn hope." For the Daily Gazette A Sophism Answered.

The pro-slavery advocate has often, in my hearing, put forth the narrow and contemptible doctrine that slavery is not a very bad thing aside from its abuses. It might be tolerated, without a word of complaint, provided the bondman be well cared for in physical point of view. Only give the slave enough to eat and drink and wear, working him according to his health and strength, and what more should be demand, what more should he crave? Feed the body and starve the spirit, is practically the motto of every apologist for the grievcan sanction such a fallacious idea, and cared for, the soul should not be forgotten. A human being is something more than flesh and blood and bone and sinew and muscle. It will not do to ignore the fact that there are intellectual, moral, spiritual powers. All these need and demand development and appropriate culture. Slavery refuses to answer this legitimate demand.

inflict on him the greatest possible wrong. Wm. E. Channing, D. D., one of the noblest and truest men of his day, in one of his excellent papers on slavery, having shown that this damning evil outrages human nature by converting the image of God into a chattel, destroying all the reladown to brotherhood with brutes, proceeds him awa to a desurted tayurn, which that of state prison, H. Harlow. as follows:

"In reply to these and other representations of the wrongs and evils of this insti-tution, we are told that slaves are well fest, well clothed, at least better than the peasantry and operatives in many other countries; and this is gravely adduced as a viudication of slavery. A man capable of offering it ought, if any one ought, to be reduced to bondage. A man who thinks food and raiment a compensation for liberty, who would counsel men to sell themselves, to become property, to give up all rights and power over themselves, for a man; and would be less wronged than oth- idee ov hiz appearance."

told, and so are the domestic animals. A gentleman's horse in England is better lodged and more pampered than the operatives in Manchester. The grain which the horse consumes might support a starving family. How sleek and shining his coat!

MILWAR family. How sleek and shining his coat! How gay and rich his caparison! But why is he thus curried, and pampered, and be-decked? To be bitted and curbed; and then to be mounted by his master, who arms himself with whip and spur to put the animal to his speed; and if any accident mar his strength or swiftness, he is sold from his luxuriant stall to be flayed, overworked, and hastened out of life by the merciless drayman. Suppose the nobleman should say to the half-starved, ragged operative of Manchester, 'I will give up my horse, and food and clothe you with like sumptnousness, on condition that I may mount you daily with lash and spurs, and coll you when I can make a paragraph. sell you when I can make a profitable bar-gain.' Would you have the operative, for gain. the sake of good fare and cicthes, take the lot of the brute? or, in other words, become a slave? What reply would the heart of an Old-England or New-England laborer make to such a proposal? And yet, if there be any soundness in the argument drawn from the slave's comforts, he ought to accept it thankfully and greedily. "Such arguments for slavery are insults. The man capable of using them ought to be rebuked as mean in spirit, hard of heart, and wanting all true sympathy with his race. I might reply, if I thought fit, to this account of the slave's blessings, that there is nothing very enviable in his food and wardrobe, that his comforts make no approach to those of the nobleman's horse, and that a laborer of New-England would prefer the fare of many an almshouse at home. But I cannot stoop to such reasoning. Be the comforts of the slave what they may, they are no compensation for the degradation, insolence, indignities, ignorance, servility, scars, and violations of domestic rights to which he is exposed."

Dr. Channing knew the institution of slavery well. He had studied slave life on the plantation, and was prepared to utter his solemn protest against this vile scheme of robbery and wrong and social outrage. Let the apologist for human boudage read and ponder the extract given above. Ост. 16, 1860.

Neighborhood Meetings.

We are happy to learn that republican meetings will be very generally held thro'out the county during the time preceding the election. These meetings can be supplied with speakers from Janesville if they are desired, and timely notice given. There is, however, one point in connection with these speakers we hope our friends will allow us to speak about freely; and that is the matter of the payment of their expenses in attending the meetings they address. No one of them expects or would receive payment for his time or labor, but it is certainly only reasonable that the actual expense incurred by them in going and re | mi remark he kolapsed simultaniusly onto turning from the meeting should be paid by those whom they visit and address. If this is not done, the individual expense is a serious matter, where a speaker, as many of our citizens do, visit a large number of places during a campaign. We speak of this, because they will not, and because the propriety of the suggestion we make must be apparent to any one who will think of it. Therefore, don't wait for your speakers to ask, but tender them a sufficient sum to pay the money they must necessarily expend. By a contribution at the meeting, the amount can easily be raised.

He is zealously engaged in the contest now wa ging, and will infuse his own spirit into his hearers.

Mr. Douglas attempted at Milwaukee to explain away the celebrated quotation from one of his speeches, that he "did down." His explanation is that he did not of a sweeping fire. care whether the slavery clause in the Lecompton constitution was voted down or up -he was against Lecompton in any event. We would like to enquire of Mr. Douglas why he did not make this defence when Mr. Lincoln referred to it in debate with him in 1858? Why complain of it at this late day? Perhaps he had not thought of the dodge till now. Inasmuch as the "don't care" policy is the very essence of the doctrine of popular sovereignty, as applied to slavery in the territories, Mr. Douglas cannot repudiate it without denying his great principle. We hope he will stick to that ill after election.

A CALIFORNIA PROPHET.-Forbes, who used to work for us, and now prints the Sierra Democrat, estimates Douglas' maiority in Pennsylvania at 75,202! He says Lincoln does not take as Fremont did." Oh!
